Boy Peeper Hit In Eye At Fair; Show Closed Up

DETROIT — Michigan State Fair officials today halted performances of a midway show until police complete an investigation of the striking of a 12-year-old boy as he peeped through a hole in the tent.

John Barfield, 23, of St. Louis, was held for investigation in the injury to John Bergler. Police said Barfield, a handy man with the tent show, The French Casino, struck the Detroit youngster over the left eye Tuesday with a pair of eight-inch wire cutters.

Barfield said he hit the boy with his hand. He denied striking the youngster with wire cutters.

James M. Hare, general manager of the fair, said the tent show would remain closed until he has received a full report on the incident.

Barfield was on guard late yesterday at the rear of the tent where the Bergler boy attempted to peep in on the show. When the tent bulged, Barfield struck the hump, leaving a bruise over the boy's left eye.

The Bergler boy was treated at the fairground aid station and later at Highland Park General Hospital, then released.

Seven years ago Richard Hinson, then 11, of Royal Oak, lost an eye when a carnival employee kicked him in the face as the boy tried to peep in on a freak show at the fair.

The employee, Roy B. Hix, was convicted of aggravated assault. He was sentenced to 60 days in jail, fined $550 and placed on two years probation.

In civil action, the boy, through his parents, was awarded $12,000 in damages.

Georgians End Hot Campaign

By ROBERT MOOREFIELD
ATLANTA — Georgians nominated a governor, a U.S. senator and 10 representatives in today's Democratic primary. The ballot lists nine candidates for the governorship.

Nomination in a Democratic primary virtually assures election in Georgia.

Nine candidates seeking to succeed Gov. Herman Talmadge, who by law cannot succeed himself, have staged one of the hottest campaigns in decades. Much of their oratory dealt with the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision against segregation in public schools. The major candidates promised to maintain separate public schools for white and Negro children.

The candidates for governor are State Rep. Charles Gowan of Brunswick; Edmond Barfield, Atlanta; Ben Garland, Jackson; Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin; House Speaker Fred Hand; Agriculture Commissioner Tom Linder; Arthur Nesson, Atlanta; Mrs. Grace Thomas, Decatur; and former Gov. M. E. Thompson.

City Bans Comics

OKLAHOMA CITY — The City Council has banned the sale or display of crime, horror and sex comics. Violators are subject to $20 fine.

Quota Unchanged

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department called Tuesday for 23,000 Army draftees in November. This quota has been renewed each month since July.

McCarthy Witness Gagged By Army, Says Senator's Attorney

WASHINGTON — A witness at the McCarthy hearing testified today he heard Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker mutter "you s.o.b." at Senator McCarthy at a public hearing in New York last Feb. 18.

William J. Harding Jr., of New York City, salesman, related the alleged incident.

Harding was called as the second witness as Edward Bennett Williams, attorney for McCarthy, began presenting the senator's defense against the charge. One charge is that McCarthy abused Zwicker.

Williams called as his first witness Maj. Gen. Kirke B. Lawton, former commander of Ft. Monmouth, N. J., and sought testimony from him about a private conversation with Zwicker.

Williams ordered a recess of the public hearings at 9:10 a.m. (CST) while the six-member committee discussed in closed door meeting whether it should direct that Lawton answer questions.

Williams told a reporter during the recess that unless Lawton returned to the witness stand McCarthy himself would be the next witness.

Williams Gets Campaign Going

LANSING — Gov. Williams' re-election campaign began to roll today.

The governor appointed a statewide committee to raise funds for his campaign for a fourth term and his campaign committee disclosed it hopes to organize 3,000 radio and television parties in democratic homes to hear or see Williams "fireside chat" on Sept. 21.

Lawrence L. Farrell, the governor's executive secretary, said Williams will mix campaign appearances with official visits during the rest of September. In October he will start a county-by-county tour of Michigan.

The Democratic ticket this year will not campaign as a team, nor as a group of small teams, as in past years, Farrell said.

Each candidate will make his own swing of the state on the theory, Farrell said, that better coverage can be obtained that way and that each candidate will have an opportunity to build up his own individual following.

Horace Gilmore, chairman of the Williams' campaign committee, said Sept. 21 has been designated as "Governor Williams' night."

Between 9 and 9:30 p.m. that night, Williams will appear on an 11-station statewide radio and television network to review his 5½ years as governor and outline his ideas of the campaign issues.

Factional Dispute Stirs Senate Race In South Carolina

COLUMBIA, S.C. — Former Gov. J. Strom Thurmond's nomination in the U.S. Senate race in South Carolina today fanned a factional fight among state Democrats.

Thurmond spearheaded the Dixiecrat split in the Democratic party when he ran for president on the States Rights ticket in 1948. He will oppose State Sen. Edgar A. Brown, who helped keep the state in the party fold in 1952. Thurmond supported Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952.

Lawton declined to testify about the conversation. He cited a directive by President Eisenhower forbidding disclosure of private conversations within the executive branch of the government.

Lawton said he was taking his stand on advice of "various counsel" at the Pentagon.

Williams protested that the Army was "gagging" Lawton without justification, but said he would not demand that the censor investigations committee order Lawton to testify.

Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) said, however, the committee should consider that question on its own.

Watkins ordered a recess of the public hearings at 9:10 a.m. (CST) while the six-member committee discussed in closed door meeting whether it should direct that Lawton answer questions.

Williams told a reporter during the recess that unless Lawton returned to the witness stand McCarthy himself would be the next witness.

British Union Chief Disowns Laborites Who Went To Russia

BRIGHTON, England — Arthur Deakin, Britain's most powerful labor union chief, struck out today at British Laborite visits to Communist countries—"where people go and get indoctrinated."

Speaking to the annual meeting of the huge Trades Union Congress (TUC), Deakin made his attack as part of a scorching condemnation of Communist tactics in the British Trade Union movement.

An official Labor party delegation led by former Prime Minister Clement Attlee has just finished a trip to the Soviet Union and Communist China. Other Laborites—as individuals, not official delegates—are now in Poland.

Tuesday night Russia's labor boss, Nikolai Shvernik invited a TUC delegation to visit the Soviet Union. Deakin is secretary of the 1,400,000-man transport and general workers union and a vice president of the TUC, which is the financial backbone of the Labor party.

After disowning, on behalf of the TUC, nine Britons who attended a recent Vienna session of the Communist World Federation of Trade Unions (WFTU), Deakin said:

"I also want to refer to the invitations that are sent out and accepted for visits to Prague, Warsaw and other places where people go and get indoctrinated."

His remarks brought cries of "shame" and protest from some of the delegates.

Deakin told them: "You have got the virus all right. We understand it very well. We have seen the outward and visible signs."

Production Resumed At Studebaker Plant

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — Studebaker Corp. resumed auto production Tuesday after a month's shutdown, with the hope of getting its whole working force of 10,000 back by Sept. 20.

Truck production is to be resumed next week.

The big auto plant was already shut down for inventory-taking when its financial crisis resulted in an ultimatum for a wage cut last month.

The CIO United Auto Workers finally agreed to drop to the wage scale paid by the "big three" producers, in order to make Studebaker costs competitive.

Southeast Asia Pact Signed By 8 Nations

By ROBERT EUNSON
MANILA — Eight nations of the East and the West signed a collective security pact today which in effect warns the Communists against any further aggression in Southeast Asia.

It took just three days for the United States, France, Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, Pakistan and the Philippines to reach complete accord.

The treaty hangs a big "no trespassing" sign on small nations in the area. It binds the eight nations militarily to meet the "common danger" of armed attack in the treaty area or against any member "in accordance with its constitutional processes."

Treaty Area Defined
The "hands off" warning to the Communists defined the treaty area as "the general area of Southeast Asia, including also the entire territories of the Asian parties,

Hurricane Veers To Skip Florida

MIAMI, Fla. — The hurricane alert for South Florida was lifted today as Edna, an erratic giant packing 115 mile per hour winds, swung to the northward in the Atlantic.

A 10 a.m. (CST) advisory reported the season's fifth hurricane about 300 miles east of Miami and moving northward about 10 miles per hour.

Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster at the Miami Weather Bureau, said that if the hurricane continued on the course there was a possibility that "nobody will get hit by it."

Two-Time Loser

Dewey is a two-time loser as a Republican nominee for president. He lost to President Roosevelt in 1944 and President Truman in 1948.

In the next campaign, he worked for Eisenhower.

Two presidential defeats by the Democrats might seem enough to cool off Dewey. But they may have only aggravated his ambition. If Eisenhower does not seek re-election in 1956, Dewey may try again, if the Republicans let him.

They might not let him. The two defeats rankled with some members of his own party. Not so much the 1944, war-year trimming by Roosevelt, but the 1948 beating by Truman.

Popular Executive

That year Dewey looked, to the political experts at least, like a sure winner until the ballots were counted. Later he was accused of having been so overconfident of victory that he coasted in the campaign instead of making it all-out, as Truman did.

And his part in the 1953 Republican convention—in helping steer the nomination to Eisenhower and away from the late Sen. Taft of Ohio—embittered a number of Taft's supporters.

But Dewey's critics and enemies could never deny he had been a popular governor of New York and that he was a true political pro.

House Speaker Goes On Stumping Tour

WASHINGTON — Speaker of the House Joseph W. Martin Jr. will set out a week hence on a 10-day tour of 13 states during which he will make 19 speeches urging election of a Republican Congress in November.

The Republican National Committee today announced Martin's itinerary, which includes: Sept. 16, Louisville, Ky.; Columbus, Ind.; Sept. 17, Pontiac, Mich.; Sept. 18, Minneapolis; Sept. 25, St. Joseph, Mo.; Lees Summit, Mo.

Unemployment Rises

DETROIT — The Michigan Employment Security Commission said today unemployment is expected to rise to 225,000 later this month. The commission said 150,000 or 10 per cent of the state's working force was idle last month. MESCC said the increase was due to seasonal industry model changeovers.

and the general area of the Southwest Pacific, not including the Pacific area north of 21° degrees 30 minutes north latitude."

The last definition would extend the treaty just north of the northern tip of the Philippines, but short of Chinese Nationalist Formosa.

Door Wide Open For Presidency Of U. S. In 1956

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — Thomas E. Dewey, in deciding not to run again for the governorship of New York, as left the door wide open to bid for the presidency or the United States Senate in 1956.

In a televised broadcast to the people of New York Tuesday night he said the time had come for him to return to private life and he will not be a candidate for any public office "this fall."

May Be Looking Ahead

He did not say (1) he had given up all political ambitions or (2) that he was retiring to private life for keeps or (3) that he would not accept appointment to high public office, perhaps by President Eisenhower.

There has long been speculation here that he might succeed Secretary of State Dulles if the latter ever retired. This would require appointment by Eisenhower, who received a big assist from Dewey in getting the Republican presidential nomination in 1952.

The six-year Senate term of Herbert H. Lehman, 75-year-old Democrat and former New York governor, ends in 1956. If Dewey has abandoned hope for the presidency, he might shoot for Lehman's job two years from now.

Formosa Warships And Planes Team Up To Bomb Red Bases

By SPENCER MOOSA
TAIPEH, Formosa — Chinese Nationalist warships and planes—including U.S.-supplied F84 Thunderjets—teamed up again today to pound possible Communist invasion bases on the mainland, the Defense Ministry announced.

It was the first time Nationalist jets have been in action against the Reds.

The ministry said bombs and shells rained for the third day on Communist batteries which have shelled Quemoy, Nationalist island just off the coast opposite Formosa, and on bases where the Reds may have been massing junks for an invasion.

A special communiqué described today's attacks as the heaviest so far. Targets included concentrations of junks, artillery positions, barracks and other military installations.

Gen. Chang Yi-ting, army spokesman, said he had no information on reports that two former U.S. destroyers took part in the bombardment of Amoy and other Communist bases within gun range of Quemoy.

Some Nationalist sources cautiously predicted that the threat of a Communist invasion of Quemoy, if one actually did exist, has diminished since Nationalist attacks began this week.

"It is too early to say," Chang told newsmen, "whether our operations against the Communists have been effective."

The treaty stipulated that other countries could join.

The pact also:

1. Calls for consultation and cooperation among members to develop economic measures "designed to promote economic stability and social well-being" in Southeast Asia.
2. Establishes a council which "shall be so organized as to be able to meet at any time" to carry out the treaty terms.
3. Supports "continuous and effective self-help and mutual aid" among member nations to resist armed attack and prevent subversive activity directed from outside the country.
4. Upholds the charter of the United Nations.

Little Nations Benefit
The economic framework of the treaty may prove the most effective step in gaining stronger support for democracy in Asia. Red-threatened Laos, Cambodia and free Viet Nam will benefit from both the economic and military benefits of the pact.

The eight countries also approved a "Pacific Charter" for this region. Proposed by the Philippines, the document upholds the principle of equal rights and self-determination of peoples in the area. It says the signers will work by peaceful means "to promote self-government and secure independence of all countries whose people desire it and are able to undertake its responsibilities."

The victim's husband, Dr. Samuel Sheppard, a handsome 30-year-old osteopath, is awaiting trial on a first-degree murder charge.

In a second attempt to free him on bail from county jail, Corrigan said he would subpoena "about half a dozen" witnesses when the request is heard in court later this week.

Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin set the trial hearing for Friday, but said he would postpone the hearing until Saturday if witnesses were brought in. No postponement has yet been made.

The accused osteopath has maintained he suffered injuries while fighting the man who killed his wife July 4.

At the state level, Dewey's withdrawal may have thrown the gubernatorial campaign into a dogfight.

Dewey said he would take a vigorous part in the coming state campaign. He mentioned no choice as a successor, but said in answer to a question later that U.S. Sen. Irving M. Ives would make an "excellent" governor.

Fifty Girls Vie For Beauty Title

By JAMES F. TOMLINSON
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — Fifty gorgeous girls don bathing suits or evening gowns today for the first round of competition for the Miss America title.

The entries will be spotlighted on the convention hall stage for the start of swim suit, evening gown and talent competition.

A thunderstorm put a damper on the formal opening of the pageant Tuesday night—the parade of the 50 contestants along this resort's famed boardwalk. The girls were soaked but kept smiling and waving to the thousands of spectators.

The downpour made things somewhat difficult for a sweet Indian maiden—Mary Louise DeFender, Miss Indian America II, rode in the parade as a pageant guest.

She was wearing a beaded Indian costume. The colors on the beads ran. Her costume began to come apart in spots. Mary Louise went on the warpath when a photographer tried to take her picture.

"Not this one," said the maid, "I drowned it."

Mrs. Sheppard's Killer Hunted By Private Eye

The victim's husband, Dr. Samuel Sheppard, a handsome 30-year-old osteopath, is awaiting trial on a first-degree murder charge.

Former Leader Of G. O. P. Quits After 12 Years

By WATSON SIMS
NEW YORK — Thomas E. Dewey, one of the most powerful figures in national Republican politics since 1940, is returning to private life after 12 years as governor of New York.

Dewey, twice a nominee for President, said in a statewide telecast Tuesday night that he would not under any circumstances be a candidate for public office this fall. He gave no reason other than a desire to return to private life.

Repercussions Expected

The decision, which Dewey has closely guarded as a secret, came despite repeated urging by many Republican leaders that the 52-year old governor seek a fourth term.

President Eisenhower "had hoped" Dewey would run again.

Dewey's withdrawal was expected to have powerful repercussions at state and national levels.

Losse Chairman Of Power Board

Robert O. Losse, a member of the Escanaba City Council's power advisory committee since its appointment last November, last night was elected chairman of the committee to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Todd V. Gayeff. Losse is general manager for Harnischfeger Corporation here.

Gayeff, who had previously submitted a verbal resignation to the City Council, advised the power committee in writing that he resigned with "deepest regret" and complimented the other members for their cooperation.

The committee accepted Gayeff's resignation with regret and thanks for his service and designated him an ex-officio member who will be invited back in consultation on the power problem. Gayeff in his statement of resignation noted that he has a continuing interest as a citizen in the solution of the problem.

By resolution the committee noted a recent request of the City Council to report a "recommendation" in the solution of the community's electric power shortage, and decided that it will not consider making a recommendation to the Council until its fact-finding study of the power problem is completed.

The committee's next step will be to present a list of questions to the Upper Peninsula Power Company of Houghton, which has offered to purchase the city's electric distribution system and construct a generating plant here. The questioning procedure will be similar to that employed by the committee in its study of a proposal by Alger-Delta Electric Company to supply the city with "surplus" power for 10 years.

Temperatures In Escanaba Area Drop

A mass of cool air and high pressure stretching from Pennsylvania to New England has pushed temperatures down as much as 20 degrees over Tuesday and has wiped out most of the 100 degree readings. There is light precipitation along the leading edge of the air mass. Richmond and Lynchburg Va., registered 103 and 100 degrees respectively, setting new heat records for so late in the fall.

Upper Peninsula temperatures on Tuesday all fell into the same range with Escanaba in the middle with a high of 66 and a low of 50. The Soo had 63 and 45 and Marquette reported 64 and 52. The temperature will be down today and Thursday with showers moving in. Expected high for Thursday will be 65 and the low will be 50. If the showers break off early tomorrow the temperature will rise in the afternoon.

The hurricane "Edna" has changed its course and at 8 a. m., today was heading north about 270 miles due east of Miami. Yesterday it was moving northeast toward the Florida coast. If it keeps on its present course, the hurricane will not hit Florida.

Rock Lions Festival Big Success Monday

ROCK—The Rock Lions 12th annual Labor Day festival was an outstanding success, considering the weather conditions, Monday. The rain delayed the starting of the parade for an hour, thus beginning at 11 a. m. from the Lions club house and traveling southward.

The parade was led by the Rock American Legion Band, color bearers and home guard. Parade entries were a varied assortment, with out-of-town entries from Escanaba and Negaunee. The American Legion entered a beautiful float which did not compete for prizes.

After the parade, the coronation of the queen was held at the festival grounds. Miss Martina Sinnavee was crowned queen by King Lion Ernest Fosterling. She received many beautiful gifts which were donated from local and out of town business places. Other contestants were Helen Hallinen and Doris Hill.

Winners In Parade

Winners in the Labor Day parade were picked by strangers from out-of-town. There were 12 winners from various divisions. First place winner in the tractor and trailer float was the West Rock 4-H club. James Niemela was the tractor driver with Celia Aalto. Kenneth Ranta, Barbara Strand and Diane Linjala on the tractor demonstrating food, electrical, clothing and gardening projects respectively. Their motto was "Learn by Doing."

John Small won first place by having the best panel truck and trailer float. George Lafkis of Negaunee took first honors with his V. F. W. drill corp. Post 3165. First place for comic float went to Adolore Gerou's truck and Rock School accordion band. Members of the band are Charmaine and Lorraine Gerou, Ted and Ronnie Weidum, Nancy Saari, Linnea Johnson, Butch Kiiskinen and Gary Johnson. Falek's Dairy float placed second in the comic division.

Herb's took first honors by having the best pickup truck and float. First place winner in the best decorated car division was received by Larson Bros., and second place winner was Les's Lunch. The Rock Co-op Garage had the first place winner in the best advertising float group, while U. P. Mutual Fire Insurance came in second. David Johnson received first place for the best decorated bike which said, "Don't Monkey with Matches." Butch Kulack came in second on the bike prizes.

Put On Water Fight

Recreational diversions during the day included races, contests, games, rides, music, concessions, and other exhibitions. The Rock Volunteer Fire Department put on a water fight. They also demonstrated how they put out a fire. A riding stable from Negaunee furnished the ponies for the rides. Also proving very popular was the kiddie ride "chairplane" which belongs to the Munising Lions and was invented just this summer by their Lion member, William Clark. It is all made from various parts of a car, has six chairs and as an added attraction a siren is sounded every so often. Urban Trombly and Ben Hemingway of Munising had charge of the "chairplane".

Lunch, refreshments and "moka" were served on the grounds all day. A fine display of fireworks was displayed after 8 p. m. which brought the days activities to a close on the grounds. A dance at the Riento Hall from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. with music by Chet Merrier concluded the Labor Day festivities.

At the agricultural booth, prizes were awarded for group displays. First place winners were Bobby Mankiewicz, Jules VanDamme, Louise DeBacker, Otto Saarikko, Mrs. Alex Hoglund, Diane Linjala, Mrs. Ray Watts, Mrs. Sulo Auer, Mrs. Alrick Mikkila, and Mrs. Frank Brander. Receiving second place were Francis VanDamme, John Seppala, Matt and Mike Ruotsala, Mrs. Edwin Walimaa and Bethyl Lynn and Laurie Jill Mankiewicz.

The following caught a chicken in the chicken chase: Mrs. John Jokela, Miss Edith Kaminen, Mrs. August Paul, Mrs. Jack Pelto and Frank Noel.

Nail driving contest winners were Mrs. John Toyra, Mrs. Fred Seger and Mrs. Russell Beauchamp.

The egg throwing contest was won by Jerry Bazinet and Mrs. John Seppanen.

Winners in the crosscut log sawing contest were Russell Beauchamp and Henry Depuydt who took first place by sawing the log through in 31.1 seconds. Second place winners were Harold Sinnavee and Henry Deneau, coming in third place were Albert De-meuse and Ed Dubord.

Winners in the girls sack race were Celia Aalto, first, Carol Kanerva and Alice Salmi tied for second. First place winner in the boys sack race was Mark Kelta, second place Allen Salmi, third place George Birk.

The local people, the American Legion and the public in general cooperated with the Rock Lions to make the Festival a success.

Rotarians Present Biography Program

Brief biographical sketches were presented by four new members of the Escanaba Rotary Club at the club's meeting Monday noon at the Delta Hotel.

They are John C. Walsh, Wallace Benzie, Donald J. Trotter and John Anthony. They were introduced by Myron T. Austad of the Rotary Club's program committee.

Rotary Club President Denis McGinn announced that Mr. and Mrs. M. Brohan of Paris, France, parents of Pierre Brohan, who was Escanaba Rotary Club's guest during the summer months in an international service project, had written the club expressing their appreciation for the Rotary Club's hospitality.

While here, Pierre was a guest in the homes of several Rotarians. Reports on his activities during his stay in their homes was made by Dr. N. L. Lindquist, George Stuart, Dr. Vernon Johnson, L. J. Jacobs and John Green. They suggested that Escanaba Rotary Club again sponsor a foreign student in 1955.

President Denis McGinn announced that Gladstone Rotary Club had invited the Escanaba Rotary Club to join with them in an afternoon of golf and a dinner meeting at the Gladstone Golf Club on Monday, Sept. 13, which was accepted.

Alger-Delta To Present Offer

Escanaba City Council will meet in special session at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in City Hall to hear a revised proposal of Alger-Delta Electric Cooperative Association of Gladstone to supply the city with "surplus" power for a period of 10 years.

Wynand Nieuwenkamp, Alger-Delta manager, and Max Stanley, Muscatine, Iowa, consulting engineer for the Cooperative, are scheduled to attend the meeting at which the proposal will be offered the Council.

Alger-Delta's previous proposal was to supply the city with electric power for 10 years from surplus generated at a plant whose construction would be financed by a loan from the Rural Electrification Administration. The loan for the plant and extension of transmission lines was approved earlier this year.

At the suggestion of the City Council and the Council's power advisory committee the new proposal of Alger-Delta is expected to include the location of the proposed generating plant within the Escanaba city limits.

The City Council has invited the power advisory committee, headed by Robert Losse, its new chairman, to attend the special Thursday night meeting.

Traffic Deaths Are Down But The Toll Still Is Terrific

IN the United States and in Michigan traffic deaths over the long Labor Day holiday weekend were reduced from previous years and were lower than traffic experts had predicted. This, of course, is a highly encouraging trend in a situation that has long been one of the most pressing of our

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

"I am sending you a clipping," writes a Morgantown, West Virginia reader, "containing a word I hear used in sports as well as politics. I would like to know the origin of donnybrook. I presume it means a big wrangle of some sort."

The clipping referred to is headed DONNYBROOK FEARED and deals with the Senate's action to refer to a special committee the motion by Vermont's Senator Flanders to censure Senator McCarthy. After alleging that the action was "sidetracking the controversy and perpetuating a hoax on the United States," Senator Hennings of Missouri predicted that the special committee would wind up "in a Donnybrook that might last until Christmas."

A "Donnybrook" is indeed, as my correspondent suggests, "a big wrangle." A true Donnybrook consists of a knock-down-drag-out brawl with anywhere from a handful to a mob of participants. It takes its name from the town of Donnybrook, a suburb southeast of Dublin. There from medieval times up to the middle of the nineteenth century were held annual fairs which for riotous debauchery rivaled the Saturnalian revels of Caesar's time and always wound up in fistcuffs and worse—much worse.

Over the centuries the Irish have displayed a notable disinclination to avoid a good fight. Indeed, their hankering for a brawl is as legendary as their ability at handling their traditional weapon, the shillelagh. So it's hardly to be wondered at that the annual spectacle of thousands of sons of the Auld Sod flailing lightheartedly about with splendid disregard for the Marquess of Queensberry rules should have made the name Donnybrook synonymous with riotous brawling on a wide scale.

Senator Hennings, of course, was not using the word in its literal sense because it is inconceivable that any of the august members of this committee could become involved in fistcuffs. He used it in its present-day figurative meaning of a prolonged and fairly disorderly squabble—which some portions of the earlier McCarthy hearings rather resembled.

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

To editors, statisticians, credit managers, and social climbers the one indispensable library item is "Who's Who." My friend Sam Levenson assures me that it also was frequently mentioned in his modest boyhood apartment in Brooklyn. At regular intervals, he recalls, his father would flex his muscles and loudly declare, "Any minute I'm gonna show you fresh kids who's whp around here!"

Hiram College in Ohio boasts two especially famous alumni: Vachel Lindsay and James A. Garfield. The latter was prexy at the college when he was tapped for bigger things by the Republican National Convention in 1880.

"Garfield's story points a moral," Merle Dowd, who knows all the Hiramifications, told me. "You're a sucker to leave a beautiful campus like ours. What happened to President Garfield when he moved to Washington? He got shot!"

Most law enforcement officials in Michigan, at least, conceded that motorists were more careful the past weekend than they have been in previous weeks. Traffic was extremely heavy and this, of course, tended to make motorists more cautious. In some cases, long lines of traffic forced some motorists to reconcile themselves to slow speeds.

Here in this area, one person was killed. This brings to 16 the number of highway fatalities in Delta County this year. State police showed their usual sharp vigilance, issuing more than 100 traffic violation tickets issued indicates, of course, that many motorists were still taking chances despite the pleas of law enforcement officers.

It's speed that kills on the highways and the best answer to highway fatalities is a speed law—rigidly enforced, including radar controls. When the states finally realize that there is no other solution to the problem, as they must inevitably do someday, the first real gains in traffic control will be attained.

Auto manufacturers are making bigger cars with greater speed but for what purpose? Cars today will travel 100 miles per hour or more but few highways and fewer drivers can safely handle such speeds. And with traffic congestion increasing all the time, the objective should not be for more speed but for less.

Ike Is Confident

Reports have it that some key political professionals in Republican ranks are none too confident of prospects in the November elections. Their caution in this regard does not appear to have infected President Eisenhower.

The President's speech at the Illinois State Fair was the utterance of a confident man in fighting garb. He believes he got a good share of his legislative program through Congress. He knows he has no war to explain to the people. And he knows, too, that he has no depression to try and excuse.

It was on this latter theme that he chided his Democratic opposition with greatest vigor at Springfield. A lot of Democrats freely predicted a pretty severe downturn when the curves were sliding off last winter and spring.

But most signs suggest now that the dip is halting and there is going to be no really severe economic hardship, at least not generally. Reading these indicators, Mr. Eisenhower leaped to report their appearance to the American people.

Today And Tomorrow

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Statistics collected by the F.B.I. confirm the impression made by the recent newspaper stories of horrifying crimes committed by very young men. The figures show not only a sudden increase in the number of these crimes but also in their viciousness. In a survey of 200 cities, the F.B.I. found that last year the crime rate of adults rose by 1.9 per cent while among youths, 18 years and under, it rose by 7.9 per cent. From 1952 to 1953 the number of assaults committed by youths was doubled and there was a sharp rise in murders, rapes, burglaries, auto thefts, weapons-carrying and liquor violations.

It is depressing and alarming, and a lot will have to be done about it. When we ask ourselves what can be done about it, we must not however look for the impossible. We must not expect a "solution" of the problem in the sense that vaccination is a solution of the problem of smallpox. The criminal tendencies will always be there, re-born in each new generation, and the question is how much these tendencies can be kept under control and how far they can be domesticated. The teen-agers of 1954 are not differently constituted from the teen-agers of the past or of the future. If there is more crime and vice among them today than there used to be, it is not because there is suddenly a more criminal and vicious generation. It must be because there is less discipline, more excitement, and more tempting opportunities for vice and crime. The tendencies which are latent in every generation are in this post-war generation less effectively restrained and more actively stimulated.

WHAT CAN WE DO?

When we ask ourselves what "we" can do about the under-restraint and the over-stimulation, I am not venturing to think about advising parents with direct, immediate, and specific responsibility for growing children. I am thinking of the general public which, of course, includes the parents as citizens, but is concerned with general measures.

The problem is one for which public remedies are most likely to be found by choosing the more obvious issues, and tackling them experimentally in various communities. The commissions of study which will no doubt be set up are likely to be more productive if they can study the effects of practical experiments.

Enough is known about the problem, so it seems to me, to justify our picking three lines of action for the experiment. Not everyone will agree, I realize, with the proposals for action. But no one can deny, I think, that action of some kind is called for along these three lines.

One is to increase parental responsibility. The second is to augment the disciplinary power of the schools. The third is to intervene to protect the country, and particularly the adolescents, against the morbid stimulation they now get from comic books, and much of the movies and of television. The best we can do along these three lines will not solve the problem in the sense that it will make juvenile delinquency negligible. But along these lines a beginning can be made toward bringing the lawlessness under control.

HOLD PARENTS LIABLE

First, The law should be amended so as to hold parents liable to punishment and fines for crimes committed by their children. This is stern doctrine. But it need not and it should not be, nor is it likely to be, administered too harshly. These children are committing adult crimes, and if they are too immature to be held responsible then the adults who are responsible for them should be held responsible for the offenses. This liability should do something to make the wayward parents, who are letting their children run wild, amenable to the teaching and the preaching which they now ignore.

Second, The schools are the public institutions which have to do with the formation of character and the learning of discipline. In many American communities, owing to the weakening of the family ties and of the authority of the church and of public opinion in the social order, the public schools have had thrust upon them very nearly the whole burden of civilizing the new generation.

They are not equal to the very heavy and difficult burden of performing the function of the closely-knit family and of the powerful church. A shortage of our public education is grave but this is too big a subject for this article. This much can, however, be said briefly. If the schools are to instill the discipline that the family and the church are not instilling, they must be given much larger disciplinary powers than they now have.

Third, There can be no real doubt, it seems to me, that the movies and television and the comic books are purveying violence and lust to a vicious and intolerable degree. There can be no real doubt that public exhibitions of sadism tend to excite sadistic desires and to teach the audience how to gratify sadistic desires. Nor can there be any real doubt that there is a close connection between the suddenness of the increase in sadistic crimes and the new vogue of sadism among the mass media of entertainment.

"Will There Be Enough to Go Around?"

Production Shows Real Signs Of Climbing Out Of Slump

By JOHN W. LOVE

CLEVELAND (NEA)—Every war has its postwar recession, and so did the war in Korea. When the armistice was signed in July, 1953, many people in this country saw they needed no longer to be in a hurry to buy anything.

There would be no more scarcities and prices would not rise. Merchants with large stocks of goods could let them run down. So we got the "inventory recession," and it has been with us ever since.

Never has a slump in business and industry been so clearly signalled as this one was. After greater wars, World War I and II, the declines came much later. The last recession—1948-50—did not appear for three years because many scarcities in goods had to be made up. After the Korea fighting was over the shortages were fewer and smaller. The urgencies faded at once.

If business stability was what we needed most after war's excitements, we achieved it in a hurry. The trick now is to find buying motives to substitute for the old urgencies.

The effect of the Korea armistice began to be felt in the factories just a year ago. By Labor Day, manufacturers noticed orders from their dealers were falling. They did not lay off factory workers in any numbers until weeks later, but the recession was on.

When retailers began to let their inventories of goods run off, wholesalers soon had to follow, and before we knew it, manufacturers were doing the same with the materials they had piled. What had been one man's prudence became another man's poison. The liquidation of inventories continued even into this summer, but it has about come to an end everywhere.

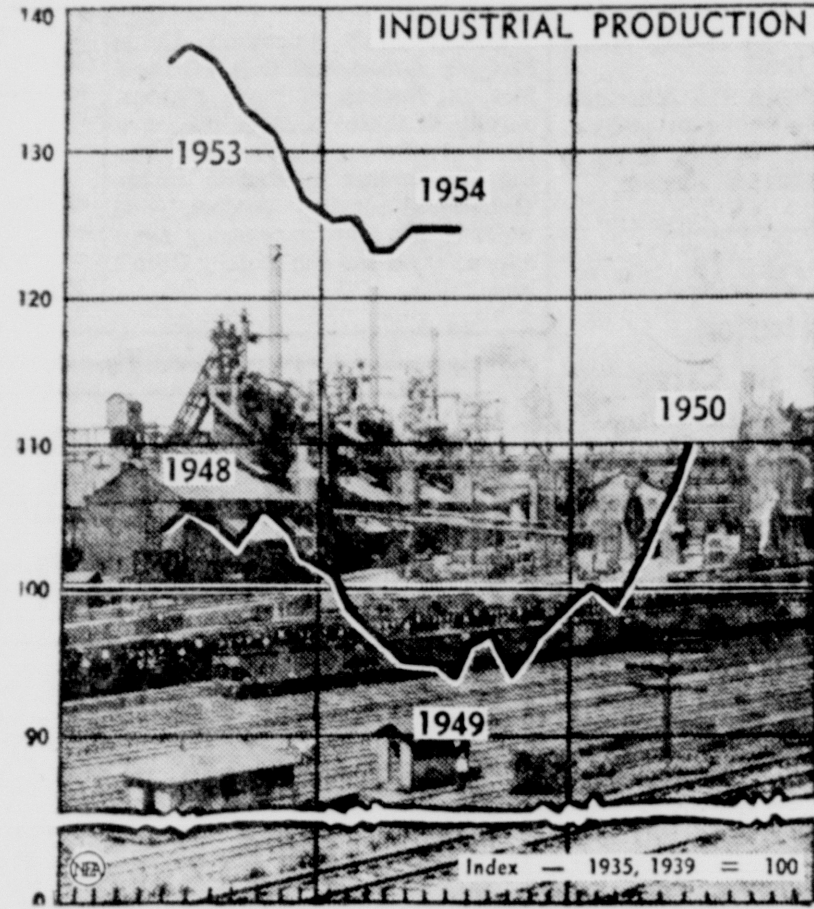

While it lasted, the shrinkage of stocks of goods was felt almost universally. Automobile production became erratic. Steel mills cut operations. Nearly every other industry shortened work weeks, laid off men. Building construction was one of the few that could do better than the year before.

The drop in the production index came to 10 per cent last March. That is why the decline in business is sometimes referred to as a "10 per cent recession." After April the production rose a trifle and has remained at that level.

If the present slump ends as quickly as the 1948-49 one, American industry should again be running at the high rate of early 1953 around the first of next year. There's little doubt that a turn of some sort is being made. Only question is how fast and how long the recovery will run. Such revivals are not always smooth.

Stocks of goods have begun to rise in the stores. Retail trade in ordinary consumers' goods has held up well. In the more durable merchandise, the things people take longer to decide on, it has improved lately. People are increasing their buying on installments.

Production of electric power continues to make new high records as more domestic appliances and new factories go on the lines. Big industrial projects continue to be announced. One of the latest and largest is that of the Henry Kaiser interests for an aluminum rolling mill on the upper Ohio River, to cost more than $60,000,000. Construction contracts have recently upped again over last year's peak.

A few circumstances may be in the way of a recovery as rapid as in 1950. The farmers are not so well off as they were in the 1948-50 recession. The prices they receive are about as low, on the whole, but the prices they pay have not declined so much.

The drought has harmed wide areas. Effects of serious strikes don't have to be made up as they were after 1949. Steel's outlook until November is not very good. Automobile companies have to go through their first full-scale model change in many years. We may be getting well supplied with houses.

This business recession has not had the effects on other countries that had been feared in North America and elsewhere. The slump that started in 1948 caused a good deal of international havoc. This time, though, as the London Economist noted recently, "the United States has sneezed without the rest of the world catching influenza."

This pleasant difference is part of the reason our recession has not deepened into full-scale depression like the one we had in the 1930's. Continuing improvement in the economic health of western Europe probably depends on signs of early recovery in this country. There are indications of economic deterioration in such countries as Brazil and Chile.

If those things should spread, other countries would get their setback after all. The recession would then be prolonged. Now that the slump has been halted for several months in the country which produces nearly half the world's goods, the omens are favorable both for restoration of business here and continuing gains elsewhere.

It is more clear than ever that if farmers ever achieve parity, they will have to get a Democratic Congress first.—Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

AMERICA'S FUTURE—A casual reading of newspapers and magazines will leave you with one of two outlooks for the future of the nation: We are on the down-grade economically; we are facing into a new era of prosperity.

Whether you choose one viewpoint or the other will be largely determined by the condition of your liver and your optimism or lack of it. The following is, therefore, a test of your optimism:

"By 1970, the gross national product may soar to $560 billion, with factories run largely by automatic control. The average workweek may drop to 35 hours, and increased leisure time as well as higher incomes will result.

"Housing standards will show the greatest improvement in the American standard of living, with many people owning two houses, the second a prefabricated cabin or cottage in a resort or rural area."

True or false? It's true, declares Dexter M. Keezer, director of the department of economics of McGraw-Hill Publishing Company in his general forecast "The American Economy—Prospects for Growth."

PLASTICS AND METALS—While there will be ups and downs, the basic trend lines covering the years 1950-70 are "based on probably normal growth of the country's overall economy."

"The study assumes that the nation will not be engaged in a major war, and that the political climate will remain favorable to private enterprise and initiative."

"The factory of tomorrow will be working to the greatest possible extent, with plastics and fluid metals that can be molded in a continuous operation, while X-ray or radio-isotopes will be used to control quality and detect flaws.

"Electronic, automatic controls will supervise practically every operation in industrial plants, including metals cutting and casting; machining; materials handling; and perhaps even assembly operations."

HOUSING AND CARS—Improvements in technology will increase average output per manhour of work, which will in turn bring about a shorter work-week and more leisure.

Greatest increase in production is likely to be goods for the consumer market, and people will have more money to buy because it is estimated that 1970 per capita income may rise over 40 per cent from the 1950 level.

More income will result in better housing, with prefabrication making it possible to add to the present home or erect a new one as the style of living changes. Style changes in housing will become more frequent, and new models will come out to satisfy the demand.

There will be more leisure, more autos, more opportunities to have a prefabricated cottage in the country or on the shore. More two-car families will make part-time out-of-town residence convenient.

MORE OF EVERYTHING—Besides more houses, more cars, more household appliances, more leisure and more wages, people will have more of just about everything—including the urge to travel.

Turbine engines will speed autos along improved roads, and jet airliners will take you on a fast vacation run to foreign countries. If you can't take the jet trip to other lands, food prepared by European chefs will be brought practically fresh to your dinner table.

The demand for petroleum products will increase with more travel; more homes will be heated by gas; and production of coal will go up to meet the demands of industry and power generation.

Although plastics and synthetics will boom in many new fields and increase in old ones, there will be no slowing down in the demand for steel and copper, which is expected to go up 15 per cent in the next 10 years. Alloy steel will be more widely used as machines run faster and must be made to withstand stress and heat.

Atomic energy is not mentioned in the report, indicating that coal and other conventional power sources will be with us for many years to come.

So that's the picture for 1970: More people with more time and money to go twice as fast and twice as far as they did in 1950. It should fill you with optimism.

Nightmarish Animals In Pre-Historic Zoo Near Ossineke, Mich.

OSSINEKE (P) — An unknown night visitor might well be scared out of his wits if he should happen upon a certain 40-acre tract of former swampland near this lakeshore hamlet in north-eastern Michigan.

And with good reason, for scattered here and there among the trees and brush are replicas of some of the most ferocious monsters that ever roamed the face of the earth.

Made Life-Size

All are life-size figures of prehistoric animals, the work of Paul N. Domke, a sculptor who has devoted 20 years to developing his own dinosaur menagerie.

The result is a nightmarish "zoo" which Domke believes, when it is finished, will be the only one in the world to contain figures of all the known prehistoric animals.

A visit to the zoo is a memorable experience. Here stands a menacing 30-foot tyrannosaurus, its giant teeth bared and its huge staring eyes fixed on an unseen quarry. Nearby is a ceratosaurus sinking its long-knife-like teeth into the back of a corythosaurus. A brontosaurus, the long-extinct saber-toothed tiger and the di-metrodon are among other life-like monsters that stand in various poses throughout the wooded area.

Concrete By Barrell

Each one is the result of many hours labor and careful planning. Domke spent 1,600 hours completing a pair of battling monsters. A 30-ton brontosaurus which stands near the zoo gateway took 2,000 hours. Sixty-four barrels of concrete went into the plastic form he smeared over the animal's steel framework.

Domke, now 68, hopes that his 14-year-old nephew, Roland Schaedig, will want to carry on his work. But Roland, though he has lived at the zoo with his uncle since he was a small boy, is not so sure. Years of living among concrete monsters have almost convinced him he would like to be a physician and "work with living things."

British Wonder Plane Is 'Flying Bedstead'

FARNBOROUGH, England (P) — Britain's "flying bedstead," a wingless 3½ ton wonder that takes off and lands vertically, "can be set down as gently as a cup of tea," the man who has flown it said today.

Ronald Shepherd, flying consultant to the Rollys Royce aero engine firm, described the craft to reporters at the big British aviation show here.

"The whole thing stands on four tubular legs," he said. "Its two jet engines are held in a tubular construction and the pilot sits on top."

Existence of the experimental craft was disclosed Monday by Minister of Supply Duncan Sandys. Shepherd said on its first flight the craft was tethered to the ground with strong wire ropes and only lifted five feet in the air.

Later it made several free flights up to 100 feet and more. It is held in the air by the downward push of its jet streams. The jets can be deflected to make it move over the ground.

Gas Sale Brings Business Rush At 9 Cents A Gallon

WANTAGH, N.Y. (P) — Edwin R. Butterworth's gas station was a popular fueling spot over the Labor Day weekend.

Fed up with pressure from his oil company to boost sales, he was getting rid of his monthly quota at the freak price of 9 cents a gallon.

Five policemen were needed to handle the crowd. By Monday afternoon the 20,000-gallon quota was gone and Butterworth returned to the regular 25.9 cent price.

He figured the sale cost about $2,000, which he said he would charge off to "advertising and entertainment."

The rush of business kept Butterworth so busy he forgot to fill up his own car. With his pumps empty, he had to buy fuel at a

Ike Will Back All Republicans

By DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON—An awareness of the difficulties facing the Republican party in the autumn elections for Congress is beginning to percolate through the various layers of the Republican top command.

Vice President Nixon, at the Cincinnati meeting of the Republican National Committee, spoke some painful truths that had to be said. He made a sensible plea for party unity, and it is only fortunate that all those members of the White House staff who have been advising President Eisenhower on political strategy, and who have unwittingly been doing so much to stimulate disaffection inside the party, didn't hear the Nixon speech.

Apparently, according to Mr. Nixon, the President now is going to support all Republicans who have been nominated for Congress. The nonsense which has been regularly leaked from the White House heretofore to certain sections of the press that Mr. Eisenhower is going to purge the Republicans he doesn't like seems to have evaporated. Indeed Mr. Nixon made a very logical argument to Republican voters in New Jersey to try to get them to support former Representative Case, who is running for the Senate. By pointing out that his defeat would mean the loss of a vote in the Senate, the vice president urged Republican to support the party despite the anti-McCarthy views of Mr. Case. For Mr. Nixon pointed to Illinois, where there are disaffected groups, too, and they don't like Joseph Meek, the regular Republican nominee who favors McCarthy.

What Confronts GOP

What the Republicans are up against—no matter how they slice it—is that, once control passes to the Democrats, the investigating committees run by the Democrats will make McCarthy look like an amateur. The customary strategy, if an opposition party gets control of one house or both midway in a presidential term, is to do everything possible to embarrass a president so that his party makes a bad record in preparation for the subsequent presidential election.

As election day this autumn approaches, those Republicans who are disaffected for any reason will have to face a serious decision—whether they will let their grievances go to the point of staying away from the polls altogether or whether they will actually vote the Democratic ticket. The important problem is majority control. Irrespective of how the Republican nominees may have voted on particular issues, the only real question for a loyal Republican to decide is whether he is willing to allow control of Congress to pass to the opposition party.

But what the leaders and the organization workers may argue is one thing and the emotions stirred up by the thoughtless tactics of some members of the White House staff who started the fight to punish McCarthy, and who have been running the show thus far on the political side, is quite another. The trouble is there has been so much time spent by Republicans that there has been a singular failure to remind the country of why it was against the Democrats in 1952.

Time For Big Gains

Logically this is the time when the Republicans should be making big gains in the seats in both houses. For, just as in 1934 when a negative tide was rolling against the Republicans after the avalanche in the 1932 election, so now the same kind of negative tide which started rolling against the Truman administration and the Democratic party in 1952 should be rolling the same way in November 1954. In the 1934 elections the negative tide of 1932 had not reached its peak and went to its highest point in 1936.

While a smaller vote was cast for members of Congress in 1952 than for the presidency—and this is not unusual because of the tendency in the last two or three decades toward separate ballots rather than a single ballot containing both the presidential and congressional nominees—there is every reason why the coming elections should see a higher total than in any midterm election. And it will materialize unless the Republicans keep on stirring up the emotions of the voters on the McCarthy issue by prolonging throughout the campaign the hearings and the debate in the special Senate session.

It is being said that communism isn't an issue this time. On the surface, perhaps it isn't. But underneath it can be responsible for a considerable stay-at-home vote on the part of those who fear that the President is too complacent about the issue. It will be interesting to see whether he takes up the record of the administration on Communists in government and the political saying goes, or whether he never mentions the issue that

Real Estate Broker Takes Control Of Empire State Building

DETROIT (AP)—Col. Henry Crown, Chicago and New York real estate broker, today was in command of the world's tallest piece of real estate—the 102-story Empire State Building.

Roger L. Stevens, of Ann Arbor, and Alfred Glancy Jr., of Detroit, said Tuesday they had sold their controlling interest to Crown and only the formal closing of the deal remained.

The Michigan men and Ben Tobin of Hollywood Beach, Fla., headed a group that bought the world's tallest office building three years ago for 51 1/2 million dollars. They did not disclose the sale price in the latest deal.

Crown is chairman of the Empire State Building Corp. and was a member of the Stevens-Glancy-Tobin syndicate. He had already purchased Tobin's stock in the building, Glancy said.

Political Comeback Wins Nomination For Governor Of Arizona

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Ernest W. McFarland, staging a spectacular political comeback, has won the Democratic nomination for governor of Arizona.

The former majority leader of the U. S. Senate overwhelmed state Sen. William Kimball in a lopsided primary race Tuesday. McFarland led 42,086 to 16,104 in returns from 344 of the state's 519 precincts. He will oppose Gov. Howard Pyle, the Republican incumbent, in November.

Children Leave Their Japanese Stepmother; Live Week In Parks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A 13-year-old boy and his 9-year-old sister, whose Japanese stepmother was described as a "timid soul who cannot punish children," are home after a week of outdoor living in San Francisco's parks.

Ronaldo and Clarinda Couturier, children of Army W. O. Eugene A. Couturier, were taken home by police Tuesday. They had run away a week ago, just a day before Couturier came home from Korea on emergency leave.

The children had run away earlier in August and their stepmother, Mrs. Ikiko Couturier, called her husband home.

"We played on the swings in the parks during the day and climbed trees," the boy said. "At night, we'd sleep under the bushes. It got pretty cold."

Now and then someone would give Clarinda a quarter or a dime, and they would buy candy bars.

They ate at the homes of playmates, whose parents thought they were neighborhood children.

Couturier said his wife, whom he married in Japan after the children's mother died, is "a timid soul."

Out Our Way

"My parents are dumb, too—they always buy me clothes for my birthday instead of the things a girl really needs!"

XXXIII

After a moment Laura smiled faintly. "I want to wash up." She stared away, then stopped. "You know that Luke Miller was killed right after you left?"

He could not conceal a start and she went on into the stage station. For long moments, Tancered remained standing where she had left him, then Waxman, the agent, came out and called to him, "Grub's ready."

When he had finished eating, Tancered went out and took care of the horses. He came out of the corral and found Laura standing nearby.

"Who killed him?" he asked. "No one knows who fired the gun. Fugger and Smith say it was . . . you."

"That's nonsense Miller meant more to me than any man I've met in . . . in years."

"They say you killed him because he found out who you were." "They know . . . everyone?"

"Yes."

He was silent for a moment, but a little frown grew on his face, a frown that had seldom come on his features, usually cold and impassive. "What do you think?"

"I don't think—I know—that you didn't kill him."

"What's Mrs. Miller doing?"

"What can she do?"

Tancered hesitated. "I thought perhaps she'd keep on with the paper."

"That's a man's job."

"Women have run newspapers."

"Not in Sage City, not with Jacob Fugger owning the town."

He drew a slow breath. "Who's mayor of Sage?"

"Who else?"

"How could he be? His term was up. Even with Miller dead."

"What council?"

"So it's like that. But . . . Lee Kinnaid?"

"He arrested Hong Kong Smith and a mob broke into the jail and turned him loose."

"Lee?" exclaimed Tancered.

"He was hurt, but he's all right."

He—he says you left Sage City because you were afraid that your staying would hurt Mr. Miller—when people knew you were Wes Tancered. . . . She paused. "Good night—Wes."

She turned and walked toward the stage station. Tancered walked toward the corral with certain steps and swinging open the gate went inside and found his own horse.

He led it out and saddled it in front of the stable. He looped his carpetbag over the horn and swung up into the saddle.

He rode past the stage station at a careful walk and did not see Laura Vesser standing in the dark open doorway. Laura watched him ride away, then went into the station.

It was shortly after seven o'clock on Thursday morning when Tancered rode down South Street in Sage City. There were only a few people on the street at this early hour, but one or two stopped and stared at him, as he rode by, looking neither to the right or the left.

Tancered stopped in front of the Star plant and looked inside. It was deserted.

He stepped away from the door and turned toward the Miller home.

He knocked on the door and it was opened by Mrs. Miller. For a moment she stared at him in astonishment, then she leaned against him. Tancered put his arm about her shoulder and she put her head on his chest and sobbed.

"I didn't do it, Mrs. Miller," Tancered said.

She raised her tear-stained face. "I know you didn't. It was . . . Jacob Fugger. I—I always felt that it would come to that." She stopped and dabbed at her eyes with the skirt of her apron. Then she cleared her throat.

"Come in, John."

He followed her into the house.

"Sit down," Mrs. Miller said, pointing to a rocking chair.

"What are you going to do . . . about the paper?"

"We owed some money on the equipment; they'll take it. The rest . . . Mose thought perhaps I could sell it to the newspaper at Dodge or Ellsworth."

"No," said Tancered. "Keep the newspaper."

Skyway Span Opened Across Tampa Bay; Cost Is 22 Million

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The 22-million-dollar Sunshine Skyway across Lower Tampa Bay was officially opened Monday by acting Gov. Charlie Johns who said its completion marked the start of a "new era of prosperity for Florida."

He told the gathering that "I am sure the opening of this bridge will be the spearhead for a great economic growth for this area."

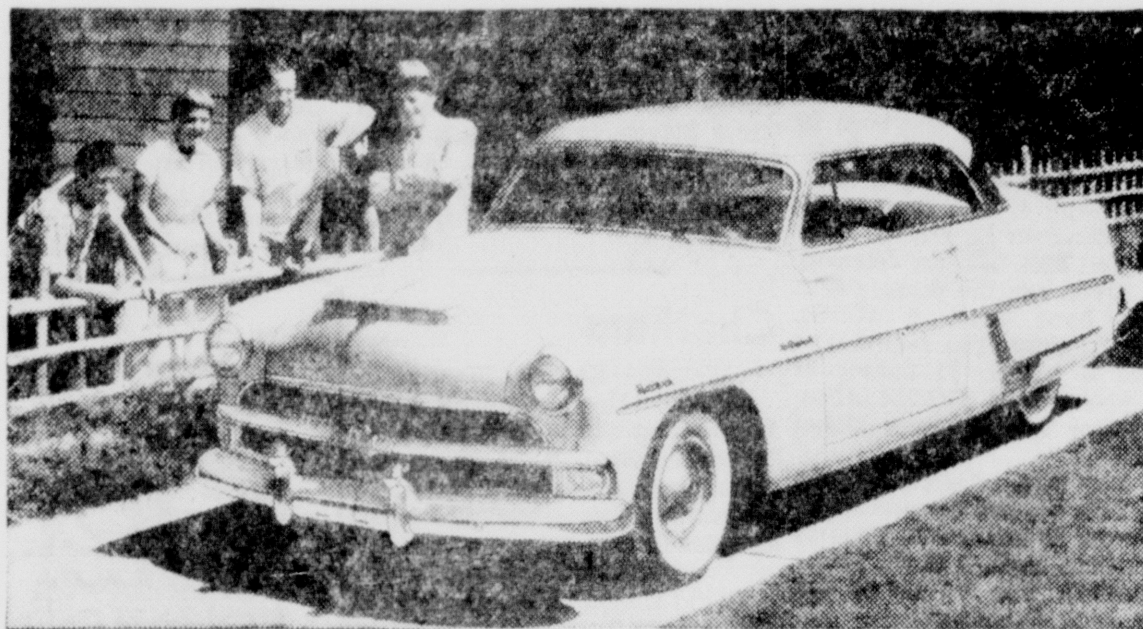

Soon afterward thousands of motorists began streaming across the 15-mile bridge-causeway linking Pinellas and Manatee counties. The new Sunshine Skyway saves 40 miles of roundabout travel or a slow ferry trip and opens up direct travel with the lower Florida west coast.

The proceedings began with a 1½ mile long double line motorcade of dignitaries from downtown St. Petersburg to the Skyway. Motorists rode free on the Skyway until 11 p.m. (EST) Monday night. Then the regular toll, $1.75 for an automobile and passengers, went into effect.

Chicago Grocer Wins War Of Nerves With Gun-Toting Robber

CHICAGO (AP)—A 63-year-old grocer won a war of nerves with a 17-year-old robber Monday as each faced the other with a pistol.

The grocer, Alex Machak, told police this story:

A boy, who identified himself to police as Donald Burns, 17, rang the bell summoning Machak from his apartment at the rear of his South Side store, 438 W. 107th St.

The boy drew a gun and said, "Give me all your money."

Machak went to the cash register but instead of taking the $100 it contained, seized his own gun left beside it. Machak fired a shot into the floor, and as the robber ran, the grocer shouted, "If you move one foot, I'll shoot you. Put up your gun."

The boy halted, but did not drop his gun.

"I'm going to count to three," said Machak.

At the count of three, Burns' gun clattered to the counter. But when Machak sought to get it, Burns seized the weapon again. The grocer wrenched it from the boy's grasp and forced him to lie on the floor while he telephoned police.

Baby Tumbles Out

Of His Bed And Lands

Three Stories Below

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Two-year-old George Meredith tumbled out of bed Monday and landed, three stories below.

The baby's bed was against an open window on the third floor of his home. His sister, Margaret, 19, said she saw George roll toward the window in his sleep. Before she could grab him, he rolled right out the window and fell 30 feet to the brick sidewalk below.

The girl rushed downstairs. Little George, wobbling unsteadily, but with a big smile on his face, toddled up to meet her.

A Harrisburg Hospital physician said he suffered no apparent injuries.

George went right back to sleep as soon as he returned home.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the most difficult jobs of housekeeping is to keep linoleum and asphalt tile floors waxed and gleaming. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it is no longer necessary to wax and scrub. All you do is apply Glaxo with a brush about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor. Glaxo is available at the Fair Store, Escanaba. (Adv.)

It's Up To Wife To Get Husband In Dressup Mood

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

If Pop goes out in the evening looking like an unmade bed, it's all the fault of his wife, says Morris Rudofker, former president of the Men's Formal Wear Institute and manufacturing firm devoted to after-6 clothing for men.

It's up to the little woman to put her foot down, says dapper Rudofker, if she wants her husband to live up to her own standards of dress.

"Men just get in the habit of refusing to dress because they can get away with it," said Rudofker.

Apparently a large group of American wives are keeping the situation well in hand because the sales of men's formal wear have increased from about 5½ million dollars in 1946 to 55 million in 1953. Further, men are going for the new colors in dinner jackets, cummerbunds and ties.

"Most men actually enjoy dressing in the evening," said Rudofker. "The trend in recent years has been away from the old-fashioned heavy tuxedos and tails and the starched shirts and collars to evening clothes that are lighter in weight and more comfortable than business suits."

"Women always have been smarter than men about clothes. When they get dressed up, they're comfortable."

Now that men are starting to dress again, they're doing the thing up brown, says this authority. They're buying cummerbund and tie sets in every color of the rainbow, in plaids, regimental stripes and solid colors.

They're going for the pastel-colored dinner jackets for resort, spring and summer wear too. Next spring, he says, you'll be seeing men wearing lightweight silk shantung dinner jackets in the new ice colors — pink, heliotrope, yellow, charcoal, blue, gray and white.

NO PROBLEM

A player should consider himself lucky when he has as clear-cut an opening lead as West had in his hand.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♦	Pass	2♦	Pass
2♥	Pass	4♥	Pass
Pass	Pass	Pass	Pass

North had a good hand, particularly in support of hearts, but he nevertheless should have exercised more restraint. The leap to four hearts was questionable because of the very low spots of North's hearts. If South had been a little stronger he might have contracted for a hopeless slam, depending on North for substantially better trump support.

West, feeling that a lead from his club sequence was absolutely safe, opened the club jack. South won with the king and, knowing from West's double that there would be an unpleasant trump break, let the trump suit alone for the moment in order to test the diamond situation. He led the five-spot to the jack, and when the finesse held, cashed the diamond ace and ruffed a diamond.

West overruffed with the heart nine and returned the heart king. South won, led a club to the board and ruffed another diamond. Again West overruffed, and then he cashed his high trump—but that was the end. East-West got nothing but the three trump tricks.

Glamor For Small Fry

By SANDRA NEMSER
AP Newsfeatures

If your little girl wants to look like mama, she can—at least as far as her beauty care is concerned.

Youngsters, even the tiniest ones, ogie grownups with big eyes that say "me too" whenever lipstick, cologne or nail polish is brought into the open.

It's fun for a moppet to be a little lady in her own way. First treat her to a carefree and cleansing bubble bath, then let her use her own dusting powder and some young but feminine cologne or toilet water.

While lipstick is not recommended for the kindergarten set, your child can look pretty and pink with some shiny-cased, real-looking pomade. Light pink or colorless nail polish gives luster to a dainty hand holding a glass of milk or stuffing a mouthful of cookies.

If she has the nail polish, why not back it up with her own petite manicure set of remover, cuticle cream, emery boards and orange stick?

Top off her bureau with a sewing kit, a pretty cosmetics case, some flowers and she's a lady—and looks it too.

Today's Recipes

A recipe for apple slices requested recently has been received from Mrs. Lyle Beaudry of Gladstone Rte. 1, who makes this tasty dessert often.

Apple Slices

2½ cups flour, measured before sifting
2 teaspoons baking powder and a little salt
½ cup sugar and 1 3 cup shortening. Mix all like pie crust.

Add 2 eggs beaten and ½ cup milk.
Roll one-half batch on cookie sheet. Put on layer of apples, 3 4 cup sugar and sprinkle with cinnamon. Roll out rest of batter and put on top of apples. Bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes. Frost while hot with powdered sugar frosting.

An old-fashioned canvas bag and a mallet are still fine to use when you want to chop ice.

Ulcer Increase In Women Blamed On Coffee Break

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN

CHICAGO (AP)—A surgeon blamed cigarettes, cocktails and the "coffee break" today for an increase in the ulcer rate among women.

Dr. Leo J. Starry, professor of surgery at the University of Oklahoma Medical School, said the incidence of the serious, bleeding-type ulcer has increased among both men and women in the last 10 years, but at a faster clip for women.

One of every four ulcer sufferers today is a woman. The ratio formerly was one in five.

Dr. Starry said the coffee break now is standard practice in many offices and industrial establishments.

He believes this has resulted in a higher rate of coffee and cigarette consumption among women workers.

Cocktail parties, he said, could help account for an increase in the ulcer rate of both sexes.

In a speech and interview at the annual congress of the United States and Canadian sections of the International College of Surgeons, he said cigarettes, coffee and alcohol stimulate the secretion of ulcer-producing acids.

The cigarette and coffee taken together during a short coffee break is especially hazardous for some people, he added, because no food is taken to act as a buffer for the acids.

His study was based on 437 cases of bleeding ulcers, 27 per cent of whom were women.

In This Corner

With Roy Crandall

Hats off to the Escanaba Harnischfeger softball team, Class A champs of the state of Michigan . . . Never before in history has an Upper Peninsula Class A team been able to pluck the big plum in state competition . . . Let alone sweep through the championship tournament without a loss.

Manager Chuck Peltier's Harnies set a direct course for the state title when they put their foot into the tournament trail in city competition here last month . . . They marched through the city, district and Upper Peninsula tournaments with superb pitching and deadly hitting . . . They didn't lose a game along the route.

When they opened competition downstate they came from behind, 5-4, to defeat St. Joseph 6-5 behind John Pieropon, fire-balling right-hander . . . In their next start against Midland they broke a 5-5 tie late in the game for another 6-5 victory . . . Don Paulin, southpaw chucker for the Dells who was picked up along with Ed Gauthier of the Merchants for the tournament, started and was relieved by Pieropon in the fifth inning with one on, one out and the score tied 5-5 . . . Joe Ricci's single scored Pieropon, who had singled, with the winning run in the sixth.

Paulin celebrated his 21st birthday on Labor Day by tossing a brilliant three-hitter at Midland in the finals . . . He faced only 23 batters and allowed nobody to get as far as third base . . . Ricci, who figured in both of the winning runs in the first two games, clubbed a double in the second inning that got through the Midland center fielder and cleared the bases . . . Gauthier, Dick Lough and Howard Rusha were on base.

Without taking any credit from the other Harnischfeger players, special honor is due the six who were named to the Class A all-state first team . . . They are Manager Peltier, pitchers Pieropon and Paulin, catcher Tod Butler, shortstop Charley Camps and left fielder Joe Ricci.

Softball observers here felt all season that the Harnies had the ability to go a long way this year . . . The team is young, fast and experienced with a fine mound staff and a hefty batting average . . . Half of the regular pitching staff was missing for downstate play, however, as Pat Moran was married Saturday . . . In Paulin the Harnies picked up a championship chucker of the first order . . . And Gauthier is a proved player who rates with the best infielders in the Upper Peninsula.

Fans downstate were amazed at the way the Harnies stood up there and teed off on the best softball pitchers in Michigan . . . The Harnies further baffled fans and opponents with daring base running and alert play in the field . . . It does our heart good for the Harnies to show metropolitan teams that softball is something the Upper Peninsula knows a little about . . . And by winning every title that was offered this year, the Harnies have proved that Escanaba is still the center of softball in the U. P.

MAKE ALL-STATE TEAM — Six members of the Escanaba Harnischfeger softball team, Class A state titlists, were named to the all-state team selected by tournament officials at Battle Creek. Manager Chuck Peltier was named all-star manager and the two Harnie hurlers, John Pieropon and Don Paulin, shortstop Charley Camps, left fielder Joe Ricci and catcher Tod Butler were selected to the squad.

Doucette Is Speaker At Softball Banquet

Bill Doucette, veteran of 26 seasons in Escanaba softball circles who announced his retirement this year, will be the speaker at the Escanaba Softball Association banquet to be held Thursday at 7:30 at the Dells Supper Club.

Doucette hurled the St. Thomas team to the Escanaba Oldtimers League championship in the regular season and to the annual league tournament title last week. It marked the fifth consecutive year Doucette chucked St. Thomas to both championships.

George Grenholm, president of the Upper Peninsula Softball Association, will serve as master of ceremonies at the banquet and Denis McGinn will award the McGinn trophy to the Harnischfeger team, city, district, U. P. and state Class A champions.

The world champion New York Yankees go West today. Barring miracles, they will be ex-champs by the time they get home.

The Yankees play 11 of their remaining 17 games on this tour of Baltimore, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit and Philadelphia. They now trail Cleveland by 4 1/2 lengths.

The big battle, which might go down in history as Casey's Last Stand, is set for Sunday when the Yankee caravan reaches Cleveland for a double-header.

Braves Head East
While the Cleveland Tribe stays home, that other bunch of wild Indians, the Milwaukee Braves, heads East in a lightning foray after the National League title.

The best road club in either league, the Braves open their 12-game tour in Pittsburgh trailing the league-leading New York Giants by 4 1/2 games with 19 to play.

The trip includes Friday and Saturday games against the Brooklyn Dodgers, who are in third place and still are trying to find out how it happened, and a three-game set next week in the Polo Grounds starting Tuesday night.

Giants Gain 1/2 Game
The Giants picked up an important half game Tuesday night in an 11-inning thriller at Philadelphia, where they shaded the Phillies 3-1.

Only one other game was played in the majors, Washington edged Philadelphia 5-4 before a gathering of 460 fans, the smallest crowd ever to attend a game at Washington's Griffith Stadium.

Monte Irvin followed two walks with a double to the right field fence for two New York runs in the 11th.

Cards At Brooklyn
The Giants are back home today for a two-game series with Chicago, followed by two each with Cincinnati and St. Louis before the Milwaukee invasion.

Sport Shorties

Jim Hill, returning to pro football as halfback with the Cleveland Browns, was nicknamed "Iron Claw" in his college days because he was almost infallible as a pass receiver.

Pete Dailey, UCLA fullback, will be missed by the Bruins this season. Despite his slight 168 pounds he averaged 5.37 yards per carry last year.

Billy Joe Patton, a top star of USGA amateur golf tournaments, is a Morganton, N. C., lumberman.

Tigers Are Pretty Close To Sixth Place Again

Fred Hutchinson On Spot?

By JOE FALLS
DETROIT — Is Fred Hutchinson on the spot?

His job as manager of the Detroit Tigers seems secure for another year. But what if the team slumps and finishes in sixth place? Then what?

Nobody knows for sure if Hutchinson will be back in 1955, except the front office brass—and they're not talking. But the tip-off may have leaked out in mid-summer.

The team was having rough going on an eastern trip. President Spike Briggs turned up in Washington and gave Hutchinson his orders: "Go with the youth."

Liked Fourth Spot
That would indicate that the Tigers were more interested in developing the team for future years than in finishing in the first division this year.

The team, however, held fast to fourth place for many weeks and attendance soared toward the million mark. The front office liked the idea of finishing fourth, and who can blame them? It would be an increase of two places over the 1953 season.

But more recently the Tigers again had rocky going in the east and slipped to fifth place — and perilously close to sixth.

Could Spurt Now

If the team topples to sixth, that would be the same position as last year. Then what would be the front office reaction?

The Tigers probably could end all speculation with a late-season spurt and clinch fourth place. Hutchinson virtually would be assured of his job.

At the moment the Tigers are a half game behind the fourth-place Red Sox. A sweep of the Bostonians, starting with today's game, would put Detroit into fourth place, with Philadelphia and Washington coming into Briggs Stadium next.

Will Reach Million
Steve Gromek (16-14) was named to open Detroit's last home stand. He was to be opposed by Frank Sullivan (12-11).

Whether the Tigers make it to fourth place or not, they've at least accomplished two things:

1. Won more games this season than last. They've won 61 already compared to 60 last year.
2. Reached a million in home attendance. (This should be realized any game now.)

Paul Andrews Faces Unknown

CHICAGO — Paul Andrews, with an eye on light-heavy champion Archie Moore's crown, meets unknown Bobby Hughes tonight in a nationally televised 10-round bout at Chicago Stadium.

Andrews, sporting 28 victories in 31 fights—half by knockouts, disposed of Nardico in four rounds in his last Chicago appearance June 23. In the same ring, the 24-year-old Andrews floored No. 1 ranking Harold Johnson in the first round but lost a split decision — his only defeat in two years.

Hughes, a 26-year-old from Warren, Ohio, who has kayoed 14 of his last 17 opponents, will be making his first appearance before the TV cameras. Hughes has had 35 fights, winning 22.

Big Ten Grid Drills Slowed By Injuries

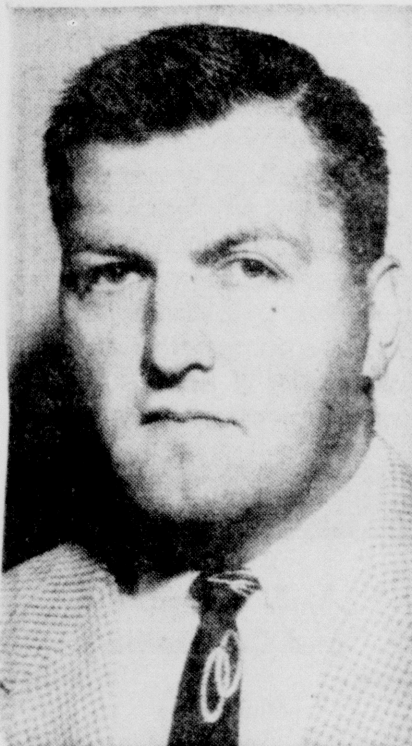

CHICAGO — Midwest Football Jerry Jansen — both having leg injuries which haven't responded to treatment.

Three Michigan gridriders, including Scotty Crisler, son of former coach Fritz Crisler, turned up with minor injuries Tuesday. The other two are halfback Tom Hendricks and guard Jim Fox.

Two Badgers Hurt
Sophomore quarterback Ed Broeker shared first string duties with veteran John Reardon at the Northwestern training camp. Coach Bobby Voigts and his staff were impressed with Broeker's sharp passing and efficient running.

Injuries during a brisk contact drill at Wisconsin sent halfback Dave Stehlow and End Joe Essex, both sophomores, to the sidelines with leg bruises.

Senior Quarterback Don Bucci will be lost to Notre Dame for at least six weeks because of a dislocated shoulder suffered in a week end scrimmage. Coach Terry Brennan announced he'll give sophomore Jack Witucki a crack at the open fullback spot.

Ted May Still Win Bat Crown

NEW YORK — Ted Williams probably will win the American League batting championship this season, despite his injury-riddled start and the prospect he will bat fewer than 400 times.

Williams, as he seeks his fifth title, currently is hitting .358 after 321 at bats. He is well ahead of Cleveland's Bobby Avila, who at .337 is the league leader on the basis of 350 at bats.

The Boston Red Sox slugger is surging at a 419 pace this month. At his 1954 rate of 3.3 times at bat and 1.2 hits per game, Ted would finish with 380 at bats and 136 hits.

The rule covering batting titles specifies that a player must bat at least 400 times to be considered as the leader. This holds true unless he still has the highest percentage after enough hitless at bats have been tacked onto his total to make 400.

In Williams' case, it would mean he would be charged with 20 additional times at bat, making his year's record read: "at bats—400; hits—136; average—.340."

Damaging Moths Moving West

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The gypsy moth, a damaging pest heretofore found no further west than Pennsylvania, has been found in Michigan. Three infestations were discovered in the Lansing area. Federal and state agencies quickly combined efforts to wipe them out, saying the pests could cause millions of dollars damage to trees, shrubs and other vegetation in a single year if allowed to spread.

New Trial Asked In Land Frauds

MUSKEGON (P) — Mrs. Lois Moon Ley, convicted last June of conspiracy to defraud the state and sentenced to one to five years at the Detroit House of Correction, asked Tuesday for a new trial.

A brief, filed in Muskegon Circuit Court by Attorney Edward Barnard, said Mrs. Ley was not advised of her rights to trial by jury.

It charged her judgment and conviction were contrary to the law of evidence and that her sentence was not sustained by the law.

Mrs. Ley and G. Palmer Seeley, former chief of the State Highway Department land buying office in Grand Rapids, were convicted of fraudulent land deals. Both pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to defraud the state.

Seeley, who earlier had made financial restitution, now is serving 18 months to five years at Southern Michigan Prison.

Mrs. Ley's brief asked that her plea of guilty and that equity action for restitution in the case be set aside. The equity action is scheduled for Friday at which time Mrs. Ley was to repay $36,272.

The court had delayed a recommendation for a minimum sentence until Mrs. Ley, a long time Muskegon realtor, made the settlement.

Father And Son Nab Robbers Three Times

FREDERICK, Md. (P)—Wilcum Inn, a store run by Charles Wilcum and his three sons, was broken into six times before they set up a watch on the place 19 months ago.

Since that time the store has been entered three times. Each time the Wilcums have captured three men and one of the would-be robbers was shot and killed about six months ago.

The latest captives will be charged with breaking and entering. One of the three men nabbed at gunpoint Sunday was injured by shotgun fire.

The elder Wilcum told police he and his sons hadn't quite perfected their system yet. "We all three fired at the lead runner," he said.

MAN'S WARDROBE WITH SLIDING DOORS PATTERN 222

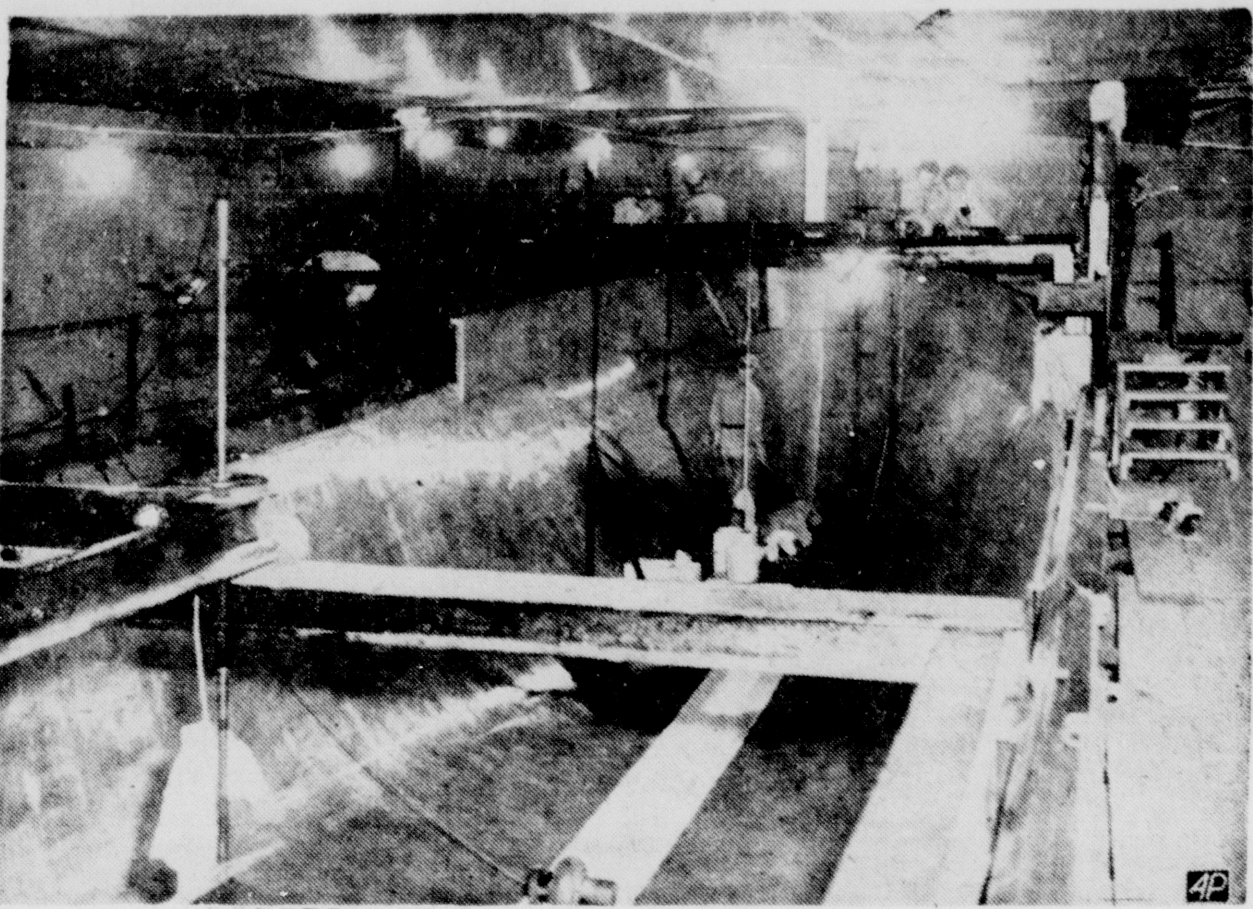

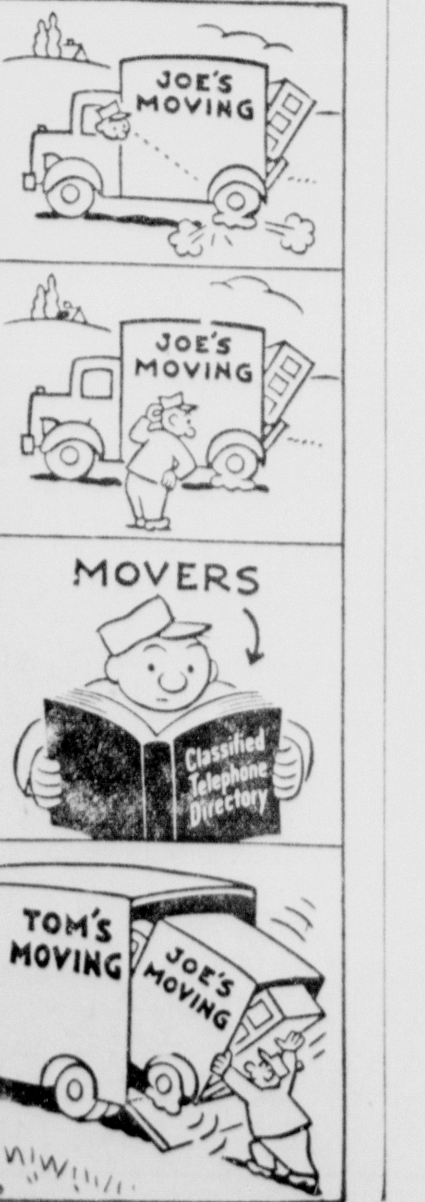

This storage unit provides a place for what a man wears except suits, hats and overcoats. The basic design is so flexible that it also may be made for a woman's clothing or for household linens by simply eliminating the tie racks and making wide trays on both sides. Shelves may be substituted for the sliding trays if space is needed for magazines, records or toys. Large 3-dimensional drawings on the pattern show how to assemble the various parts for which a cutting list is provided. The curved sides of the trays are traced directly onto the wood. To get a copy of this pattern send name and address with 25c and ask for number 222. Your order will be mailed the day received.
